Welcome to the Deloitte Technology Fast 50 Australia 2010

The Deloitte Technology Fast 50 Australia 2010 is a program that recognises and profiles fast growing technology companies. The program, which is now a decade old in Australia, ranks the 50 fastest growing public or private technology companies, based on percentage revenue growth over three years (2008 to 2010).

The program includes the following related industry sectors:

- Communications/networking
- Software
- Biotechnology/Pharmaceutical
- Internet
- Computers and peripherals.

The Deloitte Technology Fast 50 is part of a global Fast 500 series of programs. The Deloitte Technology Fast 500 Asia Pacific program recognises technology companies that have achieved the fastest rates of annual revenue growth in the Asia Pacific region during the past three years. It includes those companies based in Australia, China, Hong Kong SAR, India, Indonesia, Japan, Macau SAR, Malaysia, Philippines, New Zealand, Singapore, South Korea, Taiwan, Thailand and Vietnam.

While Deloitte does have existing relationships with some of the entities on the list, this does not influence or affect the outcome of the final Technology Fast 50 list, which is judged on percentage revenue growth.

Technology companies are invited to self nominate for the Deloitte Technology Fast 50 Australia list via our website. Financial data about the top 50 companies is provided by the entrants gathered via our online survey tool, DTermine, and is cross-checked using each company's financial statements which have been verified by their accountants or a registered auditor.

Foreword

Lead. Innovate. Excel

This year's Deloitte Technology Fast 50 is, yet again, a celebration of companies who are embracing the shifts and opportunities that technology is bringing to our business landscape.

Our program recognises 50 organisations who are some of the fastest growing and uniquely positioned companies in the Australian technology industry.

In our 2009 report we identified a technology driven tipping point of improving efficiencies and diminishing operational costs.

We believe beyond 2010 this technology shift is going to be even more pronounced as the cost of innovation reduces, organisations are now beginning to embrace these shifts from a talent perspective and the rules of business are starting to change. This linking of shifting technology, highly skilled people and changing business rules will continue to create future opportunities for our Technology Fast 50 companies to capitalise on.

The companies in this year's index are inspirational in the way they have looked for opportunities in a somewhat cautious market and strategically prepared themselves for improved economic conditions.

Congratulations to this year's winner, telecommunications company, Vocus Communications Limited, who provides independent data and voice solutions to the wholesale market. This young company has leapt to prominence through an exceptional growth rate of 11,306% and has recently successfully completed its listing onto the ASX.

Congratulations also go to the following companies:

- M2 Telecommunications Group for their second consecutive appearance in the top 10, as well as topping this year's Leadership awards (for winners with revenues of greater than $50 million in 2009/10)
- Atlassian Corporation Ltd, Cellestis Ltd, CogState Ltd and Message4U Pty Ltd, who have appeared in the index for six consecutive years
- This year's Rising Star award winner, Internet company, Mozo Pty Ltd.

This year we have noticed an increase of companies that classify themselves as 'Internet' businesses, which is representative of the shift of broader technology companies to being more online focused and operating in the cloud. Ozsale Pty Ltd in some ways is a new style of entrant in the Technology Fast 50 as its online presence and 'bricks and mortars' element is the first we've seen in the ten year history of the Australian program. In the coming years we expect more activity in this space. Even in the last 12 months we've seen the large retailers such as David Jones and Myer make moves in this area.

Interestingly, many of this year's winners have been through one or more transactions, already with large trade players and offshore venture capital/private equity houses.

I trust you will find this year's Technology Fast 50 winners inspirational as they have embraced change, adopted new technologies and brought innovative solutions to the market place. Businesses like these deserve the accolade of being a Deloitte Technology Fast 50 winner.

Joshua Tanchel
Leader, Deloitte Technology Fast 50 Program

Rising star awards

This year's Rising star awards recognise high-growth nominating companies who did not qualify for the Technology Fast 50, either as a result of having less than three year's existing revenue data or not meeting the new $8 million three-year cumulative revenue eligibility requirement of the Technology Fast 50 program. Whilst there were many exciting, fast growth companies who did not qualify for this year's Australian program, the following companies have been selected as Rising Stars:

Observations from the winners' circle

Lead. Innovate. Excel

Our analysis of this year's Technology Fast 50 shows the following highlights:

- The total revenue of the index is approximately $1.8 billion, up from $1.1 billion in 2009
- The majority of the top 50 companies are based in NSW. This has been the pattern since the inception of the ranking in 2001. 28 companies hail from NSW, with 17 from Victoria
- Privately held companies dominate the index, with 36 being privately owned and 14 companies being listed, four of which appear in the top 10
- For the first time since 2007, Internet companies are leading the charge, with 19 companies being involved in the internet industry. Software companies follow suit, comprising 15 of the winners. Ten companies are involved in the communications/networking industry
- 30 of the companies have appeared in the winners list in previous years
- Average three-year revenue for this year winners is 425%, up from 278% in 2009.

Fast 50 2010 – Ranked 1

Vocus Communications Limited

Sector: Internet

Company Structure: Listed

Growth: 11,305.60%

Leader: James Spenceley

Location: NSW

Vocus Communications Limited (ASX: VOC) is a newly listed Australian telecommunications provider, operating a national and global telecommunications network to provide Internet, Ethernet and Voice services to ISPs and telecommunications companies in Australia and New Zealand. Vocus is simply described as the Internet Provider to the Internet Providers.

The company provides high performance, high availability and highly scalable communications solutions which allow service providers to quickly and easily deploy new services for their own customer base. In addition to these services, Vocus provides outsourced network management, as well as tailoring products or network management to their customers' needs.

In July 2010 Vocus listed on the ASX and since listing Vocus has gone from strength to strength – reporting a 501% increase in profit before tax when releasing their audited annual results for the year ending 30 June 2010.

Vocus operates across both Australia and New Zealand, supplying services to some of the Internet's best known brands (such as Vodafone, iinet and Yahoo). On 25 October 2010 Vocus announced that it had entered into a binding agreement to acquire the Sydney and Melbourne data centre businesses from E3 Networks for a total consideration of $5.9 million. This business will complement Vocus' core product offerings.

Vocus has also debuted on the BRW Fast Starters list (as 28th on the list). In addition, Vocus's CEO, James Spenceley, was also recently awarded the title of Young Entrepreneur of the Year in Ernst and Young's regional Entrepreneur of the Year program.

Leadership Awards winning company

M2 Telecommunications Group Ltd

Sector: Communications/
Networking

Growth : 272.79%

Location: VIC

Company Structure: Listed

Leader: Vaughan Bowen

M2 Telecommunications Group Ltd (ASX: MTU) is Australia's largest network-independent provider of the full suite of telecommunications services. After beginning as a manufacturer and retailer of digital messaging equipment in 1999, M2 moved on to become a retailer of telecommunications services in 2001, with products and services aimed at the small and medium business market. The success of their 'Phone & Fly' program under the M2 Telecom brand drove the concentrated move into the provision of telecommunications services, and several years of profitable, organic growth followed, as M2 became a provider of fixed line, mobile and data services.

M2 now operates in the retail and wholesale markets in Australia, as well as providing retail fixed line and mobile services in New Zealand. Key brands under the M2 Group are Commander, People Telecom and Southern Cross Telco.

Rising Star Awards winning company

Mozo Pty Ltd

Sector: Internet

Company Structure: Private

Location: NSW

Leader: Rohan Gamble

Mozo launched in October 2008 to help Australians make informed decisions in minutes regarding retail banking products to suit their needs.

In September 2009, the company partnered with Fairfax Digital to equip its network of news sites with a monetised financial comparison platform. Mozo are taking advantage of this momentum to expand into insurance products, with plans to provide Australia's first market-wide comparison/evaluation of car, home and contents insurance.

In June this year, Mozo launched Australia's only application to determine the true value of rewards credit cards. The company's 'Rewards Revealer' ranks cards according to an estimated spend, calculating the value offered by each program (and whether the rewards are in fact worth more than annual fees). It also provides comparisons based on preferred rewards options such as flights, gift cards or cash-back, to further personalise the results.
